Notice of Absence

I must say that I am sorry once again.
Chapters 18 and onward have not been as easy as I thought to figure out. Because the release of the next chapter was going to be late it inevitably caused us to take a leave of absence because it was decided that it would be difficult to put out something that isn't up to par in terms of quality and production.

For this, I bow my head again to apologize.
I will reassess the weak points and come back with something better.

Chapter 18 is an episode out of the latter half of chapter 9 about the northern temple that briefly made an appearance.

I will be uploading a work that I prepared before Sinn because I feel bad for always posting notices about the chapters and I felt like I should still show you something.

It isn't the best, but I hope that you will still enjoy it.

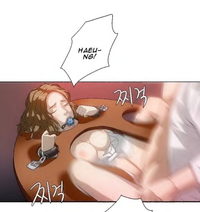
WHY AM I LIKE THIS...? I'M USUALLY DEADLY NOT LIKE THIS... WILL YOU KEEP THIS A SECRET FROM THE BOSS?

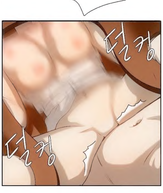
헉

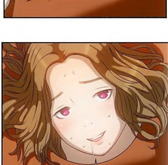
THE DAL-GI I SAW IN REAL LIFE WAS TOTALLY DIFFERENT FROM THE SEX-DROID.

INSTEAD OF REACTIONS THAT SPROUTED FROM GREED, I FELT GENUINE FEELINGS.

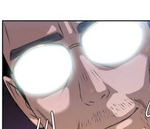
SHE WAS ALSO MORE LOVELY THAN I HAD IMAGINED.







A DNA sample of said person is required to simulate that personality. With hair, simulating 99% of the personality is possible. This is a technology that perfectly simulates actions, preferences, including various gestures, and even the inner state of mind of the subject.



Ending Remarks

'A sex-droid that simulates anyone you want, for instance if the sex-roid turns into an idol you see on TV, then it would be a very fun adult manhwa to read!' is the thought process I had when planning this work. However, while proceeding in this direction, I discovered that it was difficult to develop a story based on this subject, so I soon abandoned it.

I then proceeded to plan the next thing for Siren. This was even more difficult;;;

When I said on the last notice that I would come back to the readers with an exciting piece of work, I think I casually made a promise that would be difficult to keep.

However, in order to repay you with an exciting manhwa, we will always be trying our best here at Siren.

We will see you on May 9th with Chapter 18.
